[In Romania, witch is a legitimate occupation]

Witch is officially recognized as an occupation in Romania.

You can have your fortune told at an affordable price, you can get a spell cast to make you happy, and apparently you can also ask them to cast curses for you.

It's good that the law changed recently and witches are officially recognized, but now that they are an official occupation, they have to get business licenses from the government, and because they're treated as independent businesses, of course they have to pay taxes, too.
Various restrictions were made, such as not letting them use anything that could cause hygiene concerns.

Because they suddenly had these rules forced on them, there were also witches who declared, "If this is what it's come to, I'll put a curse on the government and the bureaucrats in retaliation!"
For now, the Romanian government seems to be alright. For now.

By the way, if they keep making inaccurate predictions, they can be sentenced to fines and such.
If that's the case, it makes me wonder how amazing witches who have never paid a fine must be.
